

CareBridge - Frequently Asked Questions

Everything about booking home nursing care: accounts, matching, offers, pricing, visits, and support.

1. Getting started

What is CareBridge?

CareBridge is a home nursing platform that connects patients (or their family members) with verified professional nurses who provide care at home. You describe the care you need, choose a service type and a preferred date and time, and approved nurses near you send offers.

How do I create an account and log in?

You can sign in with Google, or with your phone number and a one-time password (OTP). With Google, the first sign-in asks you for your phone number once to finish setting up the account; after that, you are recognized and signed in directly on every later visit. With the phone option, you enter your phone number, we send you a verification code by SMS, and you are in. There is no separate password step.

How long is the OTP valid, and how many times can I try it?

The code expires in about 5 minutes. You can enter it a maximum of 3 attempts; after that the code becomes invalid and you must request a new one. To prevent abuse, you can only request a limited number of codes per phone number and per device within a 10-minute window.

Can the same phone number be used as both a patient and a nurse?

No. A single phone number belongs to one account type. The system detects conflicts and asks you to use the correct login for your account type.

What happens if my phone number is already used by another account?

A phone number is unique to one account and is never transferred to a different account. If you try to register a phone number that already belongs to another account, the system tells you it is already in use and shows a masked hint of the account owner's name. You can sign in to that existing account directly with the one-time code you just received, or use a different phone number for your new account. If your Google email already matches an existing account, signing in with Google links to it automatically.

Can I add family members to my account?

Yes. You start with a primary profile and can add additional family profiles. Each profile stores its own medical information, emergency contacts, and address, so you can book care for the right person.

2. Services and pricing

What services can I request?

The platform offers a catalog of home nursing service types. Each service has a description, a category, a minimum and estimated duration, a base price, a list of what is included, and a preparation note. You can always browse the current catalog before booking.

How is the price of a service calculated?

Every service type has a base price. For visits booked by distance, part of the travel distance (the first 5 km) is included in the base price, and additional distance is charged per km on top of the base price. Nurses are matched within a 10 km radius of the care location. A nurse's final proposed price is always shown on the offer before you accept it - you approve the total before the visit is booked.

Who sets the final price?

The nurse sends you an offer with a proposed price, date, time, and an optional message. You can accept that price, counter with a different price or schedule, or reject. Nothing is confirmed until you accept an offer.

How do I pay?

The platform records the payment status of the booking: pending, paid, refunded, or failed. Exactly when and how you settle the payment is shown on the booking details.

3. Finding a nurse and booking

How do I request care?

From your profile, choose the service type you need, describe the care or medical situation, pick a preferred date and time, give an estimated duration, and set the care location. Then submit the request.

Will the chat assistant ask for my name, address, phone number, or preferred date/time?

No. The chat assistant only needs to know what kind of care you need and which service you want. It does not ask for your name, address, phone number, or preferred date/time – those are already in your profile or handled in the app when you confirm your reservation.

Which nurses can send me offers?

Only verified nurses can send offers. The nurse must provide the requested service type and be located within the matching radius of your care location. Nurses who do not provide the requested service are not allowed to offer.

Which nurses are shown first?

Nearby matches are sorted by distance from the care location, so the closest suitable nurses appear first.

Can I see which nurses are interested before accepting?

Yes. You can view the offers received for your request, each with the nurse's profile, rating, number of reviews, proposed price, date, and time. You can also view the list of nearby nurses.

What states does a request go through?

A request starts as pending, then moves to searching for nearby nurses, then to booking and possible negotiation, then accepted, in progress, and finally completed. It can also be rejected or cancelled at the allowed stages.

Can I cancel? Is there a deadline?

You can cancel a request while it is pending, searching, booking, or accepted. Once the visit is in progress or completed, cancellation is no longer possible. When you cancel, all pending nurse offers on the request are automatically rejected and any generated visit code is removed.

4. Offers and negotiation

What is an offer?

An offer is a proposal from a nurse that includes a price, a date, a time, and an optional message. Each nurse can submit at most one offer per request.

Can I negotiate the price or schedule?

Yes. You can counter an offer with your own price, date, or time, and the nurse can accept, counter, or withdraw. You can also simply reject an offer.

Can I accept more than one nurse?

No. Once an offer is accepted, the request is assigned to that nurse and other offers are no longer eligible for acceptance.

Can a nurse take back an offer?

Yes, a nurse can withdraw an offer as long as it is still pending and not accepted.

5. The visit: QR code and completion

How do I confirm the visit is done?

After a nurse is accepted, the patient can generate a visit code, shown as a QR code. The patient shows this code to the nurse when they arrive, and the nurse enters it in the app to complete the reservation.

How long is the visit code valid?

The visit code is valid for 24 hours from generation. If it expires or is never generated, the nurse cannot complete the visit and you need a new code.

What happens if the nurse enters the wrong code?

After 5 failed attempts the code is invalidated for security, and a new code must be generated.

Can any nurse complete my visit?

No. Only the specific nurse assigned to the accepted reservation can complete it.

6. Communication and support

Can I chat with the nurse?

Yes. Once a reservation is made, the patient and the assigned nurse can chat in real time. Only the people involved in that reservation can see the conversation.

How do I get notified?

You receive notifications for booking events, payment events, new messages, reminders, and system messages - for example when an offer arrives or when your visit code is ready.

Can I rate the nurse after the visit?

Yes. After the service, you can submit a review and rating, and the nurse's overall rating and total number of reviews are updated and shown to other patients.

Can I generate a report about my care?

Yes. The platform can generate a report based on the information stored in the profile for the patient or their family members.

I have a medical emergency - what should I do?

If you or the care recipient has symptoms suggesting a medical emergency, such as severe chest pain, severe bleeding, difficulty breathing, or loss of consciousness, contact emergency medical services immediately instead of relying on the platform.

7. Medical profile

What medical information can I store?

For each profile you can store allergies, current medications, medical conditions, medical history (surgeries, hospitalizations, procedures, and other events), emergency contacts, and an address.

What if my allergy or medication is not in the list?

You can type the name of the allergy, medication, or medical condition yourself. If it does not exist in the catalog yet, it is added automatically so nurses have the full picture of the patient's care needs.

How many emergency contacts can I add?

Each emergency contact is unique per phone number. You can add as many contacts as you need, as long as each has a different phone number.

8. For nurses

How do I join as a nurse?

Log in with your phone number using the nurse login flow and complete your registration profile, including your specialization, years of experience, and professional details.

Do I need to be approved before receiving requests?

Yes. After you complete registration, your profile is reviewed by the platform administrators. Only nurses whose profile is approved are matched with patient requests and can send offers.

How do I choose which services I provide?

When a patient submits a request for a service you provide, and you are within the matching radius of the care location, the request becomes visible to you. You then send an offer with your price, date, and time.

How do I complete a visit?

When you arrive, ask the patient for their visit code. Enter that code in the app, and once it is validated the reservation is marked completed. Only the nurse assigned to the reservation can do this.
